I. About LANDAHAN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

According to the compilation of Nunez (1996), many years ago, in the early part of the twentieth century, an old couple named Oyong and Onyang Samper lived in the locality. They owned a vast tract of land planted with numerous coconut trees. During that time, coconut meat was sold to traders in the form of copra. Instead of using a “pugon” or drying kiln, they built several bed-like structures made of bamboo.

These bamboo rafts were arranged end to end, occupying almost the entire area, including one side of what is now the school site. The coconut meat was spread on top of these bamboo structures and dried under the sun. Removable protective coverings were also provided to shield the drying copra from the rain. Because these makeshift bamboo rafts were so numerous, the place eventually came to be called “Landahan,” derived from the presence of large bamboo platforms locally known as “lantay,” which were specifically built for drying coconut meat.

In the same way that copra was traditionally prepared in the area, the school also came into existence as early as 1938, when the land for the school site was donated by the old couple. According to Mrs. Enriquetta Samper Vda. de Cristuta, who was already 87 years old at the time of the account, the school was already functioning even before the Second World War. At that time, the school building was made only of saksak and sawali.

Mrs. Cristuta recalled that the school already existed before the war because she was the youngest among seven siblings, and her older brothers and sisters had already proceeded to their intermediate grades at South City Central School in Poblacion, Toledo City, since the local school then offered only primary grades.

By the 1950s, the school had already begun offering complete elementary grades and was known as Upper Tubod Elementary School, because the vast coconut and corn lands in the area were once part of Sitio Tubod of Barangay Tubod.

When the locality eventually attained barangay status, the inhabitants voted to name the place “Landahan.” They also chose Birhen Dela Paz as the patroness of the community, believing she would serve as a source of guidance, protection, peace, and prosperity for the people.

In the early part of 1995, the school officially adopted the name Landahan Elementary School.

II. DepEd Management Structure

To carry out its mandates and objectives, the Department is organized into two major structural components. The Central Office maintains the overall administration of basic education at the national level. The Field Offices are responsible for the regional and local coordination and administration of the Department’s mandate.

In 2015, the Department underwent a restructuring of its office functions and staffing. The result of which was the Rationalization Plan for the new organizational structure. Details of the new structure are further explained in DepEd Order No. 52, series 2015 also known as the New Organizational Structures of the Central, Regional, and Schools Division Offices of the Department of Education.

Following the Rationalization Plan structure, the Office of the Secretary (OSEC) at the Central Office oversee and manages five (5) different strands and supported by bureaus, services, and divisions. DepEd operates with nine (9) Undersecretaries and five (5) Assistant Secretaries in the following areas:

- Curriculum and Instruction
- Finance and Administration
- Governance and Operations
- Legal and Legislative Affairs
- Strategic Management
- Field Operations

Five (5) attached agencies:

- Early Childhood Care and Development (ECCD) Council
- National Book Development Board (NBDB)
- National Council for Children's Television (NCCT)
- National Museum

II. Mandate

The Department of Education was established through the Education Decree of 1863 as the Superior Commission of Primary Instruction under a Chairman. The Education agency underwent many reorganization efforts in the 20th century to better define its purpose vis-à-vis the changing administrations and charters. The present-day Department of Education's mandate was established through Republic Act 9155, otherwise known as the Governance of Basic Education Act of 2001.

The RA substantially provides that the Department of Education (DepEd) formulates, implements, and coordinates policies, plans, programs, and projects in the areas of formal and non-formal basic education. It supervises all elementary and secondary education institutions, including alternative learning systems, both public and private; and provides for the establishment and maintenance of a complete, adequate, and integrated system of basic education relevant to the goals of national development.

III. Vision

We dream of Filipinos who passionately love their country and whose values and competencies enable them to realize their full potential and contribute meaningfully to nation building.

As a learner-centered public institution, the Department of Education continuously improves itself to better serve its stakeholders.

IV. Mission

To protect and promote the right of every Filipino to quality, equitable, culture- based, and complete basic education where:

- a. Students learn in a child-friendly, gender-sensitive, safe, and motivating environment. Teachers facilitate learning and constantly nurture every learner.

- b. Administrators and staff, as stewards of the institution, ensure an enabling and supportive environment for effective learning to happen.
- c. Family, community, and other stakeholders are actively engaged and share responsibility for developing life-long learners.

V. Service Pledge

The Department of Education is committed to providing learners with quality basic education that is accessible, inclusive, and liberating through:

- Proactive leadership
- Shared governance
- Evidence-based policies, standards, and programs
- A responsive and relevant curriculum
- Highly competent and committed officials, and teaching and non-teaching personnel
- An enabling learning environment

The Department upholds the highest standards of conduct and performance to fulfill stakeholders' needs and expectations by adhering to constitutional mandates, statutory, and regulatory requirements, and sustains client satisfaction.

SCHOOLS – INTERNAL SERVICES

1. Issuance of Special Order for Service Credits and Certification of Compensatory Time Credits

Vacation service credits are given for work beyond regular functions or beyond regular work hours/days where payment of honorarium or overtime pay is not possible. In addition, there are situations where extraordinary work is demanded from teachers including those which expose their lives to certain risks and for which monetary compensation is not enough. Thus, extra non- monetary compensation is justified.
